ASHRAE Announces 2021 AHR Expo Has Been Cancelled

ASHRAE Winter Virtual Conference to be held February 9-11

ATLANTA (October 15, 2020) – ASHRAE has announced that the 2021 AHR Expo originally scheduled to be held January 25-27, 2021 at McCormick Place in Chicago, IL, has been cancelled.

ASHRAE worked alongside AHRI and Show Management to explore every possibility that could lead to how ASHRAE yet? (Select all that apply):

The 2021 ASHRAE Winter Virtual Conference, which will include a mixture of live, pre-recorded and on-demand sessions, will take place February 9-11, 2021.

"The Board of Directors has carefully considered what course of action would be best for ASHRAE members, the committees that conduct the Society's business, the industry we serve and the AHR Expo," said 2020-21 ASHRAE President Charles E. Gougeon III, P.E. "The pandemic has affected everyone, requiring that we adapt to existing conditions. The decision to cancel the 2021 AHR Expo is a reflection of necessary adjustments."

On-demand training (Please specify)

ASHRAE committee, council and board meetings will take place virtually in January. More information and details will be available in the coming weeks.

"Current health rules regarding social distancing and large gatherings makes it impossible for us to provide the experience that our attendees expect at the AHR Expo," said ASHRAE Executive Vice President Jeff Littleton.

"As leaders in the built environment, we have a responsibility to protect health and wellbeing of attendees, exhibitors and staff. While we could not find a path forward to host the expo in 2021, we anticipate an even greater show in 2022 in Las Vegas."
