APA PSYCCAREERS LIVE JOB FAIR

August 6-9

The health and safety of our community is our top priority. After careful review of the best available science, we have decided to move APA 2020, from its originally scheduled in-person experience in Washington, DC, to a fully virtual one.

APA is a great place to make new connections and see old friends, and we will miss the moments that make in-person meetings so special. We know that being together is exactly what we need right now.

That is why we are bringing all our creativity to bear to bring you an engaging, unforgettable, and uplifting experience that will bring us together in a new and exciting way.

We are embracing the opportunity to bring you something fresh and new.

There will be incredible speakers, great collaboration, and unique opportunities to connect … as well as a few surprises.

The Board of Convention Affairs and APA staff are working to make this new method for convening both substantive and memorable.

We are looking forward to this opportunity to come together in a new way, to showcase how psychology is at the forefront of leading change, and to remind ourselves of how the power of psychology can be harnessed to improve the world.

More details are coming soon.
