WASHINGTON, D.C.

– The Consumer Bankers Association will host its annual conference, CBA LIVE, September 29-October 1, 2020, through a state-of-the-art virtual environment.

CBA's first-ever virtual conference will feature the same top-notch presenters, expert content and timely issues ranging from the latest regulatory and legislative news, COVID-19, artificial intelligence, community reinvestment and diversity and inclusion.

"CBA LIVE's asterisk theme is especially symbolic this year," said CBA President and CEO Richard Hunt. "We deliver the unexpected and cut through the clutter to deliver clear, honest answers about how the industry can continue meeting consumer needs and fostering economic growth."

CBA LIVE 2020 Keynote Speakers Include:

- Brian Brooks, Acting Comptroller of the Currency
- Stacey Alexander, Government Relations, Subject Matter
- Jaret Seiberg, Managing Director, Financial Services & Housing Policy Analyst, Cowen Washington Research Group
- Nitin Mhatre, Executive Vice President, Head of Community Banking & Marketing, Webster Bank, N.A.
- Christine Channels, Head of Community Banking & Client Protection, Bank of America Corporation
- Michelle Lee, President, Community Banking Eastern Region, Wells Fargo & Company Inc
- Cassandra McKinney, Executive Vice President, Executive Director of Retail Bank, Comerica Incorporated
- Quincy Miller, President & Vice Chairman, Eastern Bank

More information about CBA LIVE 2020 is available here and a full program is available here.

Media interested in attending should contact Nick Simpson at NSimpson@consumerbankers.com.

In addition to keynote speakers, CBA LIVE delivers 100+ hours of in-depth programming, dynamic speakers, 14 concurrent and diverse forums.

CBA LIVE will also feature the second annual Women's Networking Breakfast to honor the role of women and diversity in the retail banking industry. The breakfast will include a roundtable discussion with Cassandra McKinney of Comerica and KPMG's Lisa Rawls, Teresa Blake and Cynthia Izzo covering topics from leadership styles to workplace culture and success stories.
