After initially being postponed this past Spring until July 20-22 due to concerns over the COVID-19 pandemic, ISC West has been postponed once again, this time until Oct. 5-8.

According to the official event website, given the current and evolving COVID-19 pandemic and shelter-in-place orders, the July dates are no longer tenable.

"Considering the escalation of COVID-19, travel and social distancing restrictions, and the economic impact over the past five weeks across the United States and the world, it is necessary to reschedule the event to October," says Will Wise, Reed Exhibitions group vice president. "Working closely with the Sands Expo, we were committed to pursuing the best opportunity for ISC West to facilitate the conduct of business, education and peer-to-peer engaged platforms. Holding the event 6 months from now in October will offer the best scenario to support the security and public safety industry, in addition to the Las Vegas community. It is an unprecedented time, and we appreciate how the community is adapting, adjusting and rallying," added Wise.

The website also lists the following schedule highlights:

At the Sands Expo Center, the event will now be co-located with the Global Gaming Expo (G2E) and Reed Exhibitions that services the commercial casino and tribal gaming industry.

"The sense of urgency, vigilance and togetherness of our ISC community of security and public safety professionals, speakers, exhibitors, and media supporters. Our team is looking forward to the planning for the October event, along with providing digital engagement and opportunities to gather face-to-face again in the Fall," says ISC Event Director Mary Beth Williams. "We all focus on building a bridge together to a brighter future with economic recovery and growth for the industry."

Strategic planning underway for ISC East, occurring in NYC November 18-19, 2020, to be held at the Javits Center, as well as ISC West 2021 taking place March 23-26 in Las Vegas again,"
